Save The Chicks

The loss of a baby chick a few hours old wouldn't seem to have any great bearing on our war effort, but the War Food Administration is concerned over the loss of baby chicks in shipping, as a result of suffocation, chilling, overheating, or mishandling. It is asking the cooperation of railroad, express and postal employees in more careful treatment of little chicks. Aside from the importance of giving all living things humane treatment, the practical necessity for doing so now is urgent.

If saving a baby chick is important in conserving the nation's resources, it is equally important to save all useful products and materials. Let others besides those handling baby chicks, take this lesson to heart and save time and material wherever possible—it all goes into the grand total of production which is necessary to assure victory.

Get The Tax Dodgers

A special session of the legislature has been called in California to consider various subjects, including a measure to permit state taxation of Federal property.

When the Federal government confined its activities to the function of governing, rather than entering business competition with private citizens, its property used for governmental purposes was granted tax freedom.

Today, however, with the government going into commercial activity, a serious problem faces the states. Tax-exempt government business prevents the development of highly-taxed private enterprise. It enjoys the privilege of using all public facilities such as roads, schools, police service, fire protection, etc., without bearing any of their cost.

When government goes into business in competition with its own citizens, the products it manufactures and the property it utilizes for producing the same should bear the same tax burden as does other business.

It is to be hoped that California works out a plan for taxing government business activities the same as it does industries that maintain government.

Uncle Sam's Star Salemen

A few years ago no one would have thought it possible for this country to raise tens of billions of dollars voluntarily by public contribution within a space of days. It has not only been proven possible but has been done more than once. We are now finishing the Fourth War Loan Drive with a maximum goal of $14,000,000,000.

Of course the demands of war are the driving force behind bond sales, but those demands alone would not suffice. No small share of credit for raising the money must go to the magnificent promotional efforts of the most efficient salesman in the world—the American businessman. His ability is legendary. Before the war he roamed the world. He sold everything under the sun from washing machines to tap shoes. His customers ranged from head hunters to Eskimos.

What is more natural than when faced with the biggest selling job in history, the American businessman should come through with colors flying? Perhaps nowhere are his energies and abilities more evident than in the bond selling efforts of the chain store industry. The chain stores are classic examples of American efficiency and progressiveness. Their distribution technique made necessities and luxuries available to more people than all the social reform programs ever devised.

The entire nation can be thankful that American salesmanship is offered unqualifiedly in helping the government raise needed war revenue.

Inflation, The Bogy Man

"Threat of inflation is being used as a bogy man to induce a nation to accept social reform, regimentation, limitation of opportunity and incentive. Before the war ends, it will be used to hide social economic mistakes and to conceal from the public the sad state of economic affairs into which the nation has been thrown."

"Inflation comes when there is too much money and too few things to buy. High prices result from inflation—they are not the cause. Inflation is avoided, or remedied by increased production—not by regulation. To date, our government has done much to promote inflation, including propagandizing it, and nothing to prevent it." F. H. Sexauer, President, Dairyman's League Cooperative Association of New York.

"Freedom of speech is the precious right of all persons. It is not lost because one becomes an employer of his fellowmen, nor should it be lost by an employee when he associates himself with a union." St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Mystery Fires

Usually the diagnosis of fires which start with spontaneous combustion is, cause unknown. "Mystery" fires of combustible origin destroy millions of dollars worth of property and countless lives every year. The following questions are taken from a booklet entitled, "42 Ways to Prevent Fire." Those who can answer them satisfactorily stand a good chance of avoiding fire loss from combustion; those who cannot stand just as good a chance watching the sun come up some morning (if they are lucky) with the terrible knowledge that the ashes before them are not the remnants of a nightmare, but the remains of their home. The questions are simple: Have any oil-soaked rags or mops used for dusting or polishing been left in attic, closets, kitchen, pantry or cellar? (A tightly closed metal can is the safest place for them). If a cleaning compound is employed in sweeping, is it placed in a covered metal can after being used? Has any painting been done recently? If so, have the paint cans been covered? Have paint-stained rags and clothing been burned? Has any damp or uncured hay or grass been brought into cellar, garage or barn?

In those questions are the solution to most unexplained fires. A large percentage of urban homes, farms, and places of work are rife with delayed action incendiary bombs. Many of us in the course of a single day walk past some of those bombs a score of times. After all, a greasy pair of overalls or a few oily rags are not a frightening sight. But they are nonetheless fire bombs, which may sooner or later wipe out in a few minutes the results of years of toil.

Spontaneous combustion works while you sleep, or while you are away. It seldom unleashes its fury before witnesses. That it why its visitation is wreathed in mystery.

CINEMATIC CHATTER

Bu Malcom Miller
With the Old Show, Saturday and the Sunday-Monday run, comes another huge musical production designed to drive our minds away from war worries and place us in a world far removed from the mortal side of life.

"The Sky's the Limit" is the title of the show for the show dates and its principal stars are Fred Astaire, Joan Leslie, Robert Benchley and Elizabeth Patterson. Joan Leslie is Astaire's new dancing partner and the pair are said to be ideally teamed in this picture. The show has a terrific rating as one of the best musical shows of the year.

The Tuesday-Wednesday offering is on the action side and carries the title "Submarine Alert." This picture stars Richard Arlen, Wendy Barrie and Roger Pryor and has to do with a young pair of American lovers who put the finger on Jap submarines.

Thursday-Friday brings Edward G. Robinson, Glen Ford, Marguerite Chapman and Edgar Buchanan back to our screen in another famous sea story under the title "Destroyer." This is said to be a powerful story of the sea and crammed with suspenseful action.

Saturday has the usual Western offering under the title "Bullets for Rustlers" and has an all star western cast to thrill the customers.

BANK OFFICIAL TALKS TO B. P. W.

"The real test to our national security will come during the transition to peace," said Milton Campbell, official of the Fi-rida National Bank in a talk on the topic of "Inflation," at a meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club Tuesday night.

"On the behavior of Congress and the American people at that time," he continued, "will depend the degree of inflation and postwar prosperity. Until such time as normal production is resumed, the pent-up demand, backed by an enormous accumulation of wealth, could hit against a limited supply of goods with explosive effects." He pointed out that one of the surest ways to insure the permanent purchasing power of our dollar is to buy War Bonds.

As local chairman of the Fourth War Bond Drive, Mr. Campbell proudly announced that Belle Glade has purchased over a half million dollars worth of bonds in the current drive, and though no specific quota was set, it was expected that around a hundred thousand dollars would be the total.

Mrs. Julie Thomas, State Federation president was present and talked briefly on the state and district work now being done and announced plans for the state convention to be held in Miami in May.

Voting By Those In Military Service

Dear Editor:

Many of the men and women in the military services receive your paper. Will you help to get to them through your columns a little information. If they are of voting age and citizens of Florida and desire to vote in the primary they should write me for a ballot. Ballots will be ready to mail March eighteenth. The first primary is May second so there will be forty-four days to get the ballot, vote and return it.

I suggest any one desiring a ballot inquire of his or her commanding officer for a post card request form which is provided by the War Department and the Navy Department and send it in promptly. If the post card form cannot be obtained, a letter to me giving home county and making request for ballot giving complete address to which it should be sent will suffice.

It is also suggested relatives might clip this and send it to those in the service.

Cordially yours,

R. A. GRAY,
Secretary of State
Tallahassee, Fla.

Nell Smith, County Welfare workers and Mrs. Richard Robbins also attended. The Lions Club and Rotary Club were guests. Hostesses were Mrs. A. R. Whidden, Mrs. Lee Hayman, Mrs. William Buck, Mrs. Caspr Van Landingham, Mrs. W. C. Bamford and Mrs. James Weirango.

plus Another to Grow on!

About six-sevenths of the railroad mileage of this country consists of single track. Only one-seventh consists of two tracks or more.

Years ago when the Florida East Coast Railway built its second main line track, it gave the East Coast of Florida an extra track to grow on. Resulting improvement in passenger and freight service aided a steady growth in population, industry and tourist patronage.

Today, with other forms of transportation curtailed, this double tracked railroad is proving a valuable wartime asset. In addition to supplying your normal needs, its ability to handle a huge volume of extra traffic has made the East Coast of Florida hum with vital war and agricultural activity.

Tomorrow, too, your community will be fortunate in having this double tracked railroad, paving the way for new gains in population and industry the moment peace returns.

The men and women of the Florida East Coast Railway are fellow citizens of yours, vitally interested in and constantly working for the progress of this favored territory which they serve.
